

Community Engagement Unit Feature on the UAE Legislation Platform

Topic Title: Providing feedback on the Conditions and Regulations for the Transplantation and Implantation of Non-Human Organs and Non-Human Tissues into the Human Body

Topic Brief:

The transplantation of non-human organs and tissues (Animal organ, Manufactured organ) represents a significant advancement in the field of organ and tissue transplantation, as previous legislation was limited to the transplantation of human organs and tissues only. Therefore, working on this resolution requires strengthening the engagement of all relevant stakeholders to ensure that their views are considered and studied from a technical perspective. In this regard, we would appreciate benefiting from your expertise and insights on the points below.

Kindly share your feedback using this template.

1. How important is the existence of a clear legislative framework governing the transplantation and transfer of non-human organs and tissues?

2. What benefits could be achieved through regulating the conditions and controls governing the transplantation and transfer of non-human organs and tissues into the human body?

3. What controls and standards should be adopted to ensure the safe use of non-human organs or tissues in the human body?

4. What measures do you believe could support the successful implementation of the conditions and controls governing the transplantation and transfer of non-human organs and tissues within the healthcare system of the United Arab Emirates?

5. What are the key risks or considerations that come to mind when discussing the transplantation of non-human organs and tissues, and that should be considered when regulating their use in the human body?

6. Do you have any additional suggestions or ideas that could contribute to the effective development of this regulation in a manner that ensures safety, governance, and compliance with medical and ethical standards?

7. What are the main anticipated challenges or obstacles in implementing the provisions related to the transplantation and transfer of non-human organs and tissues into the human body?

